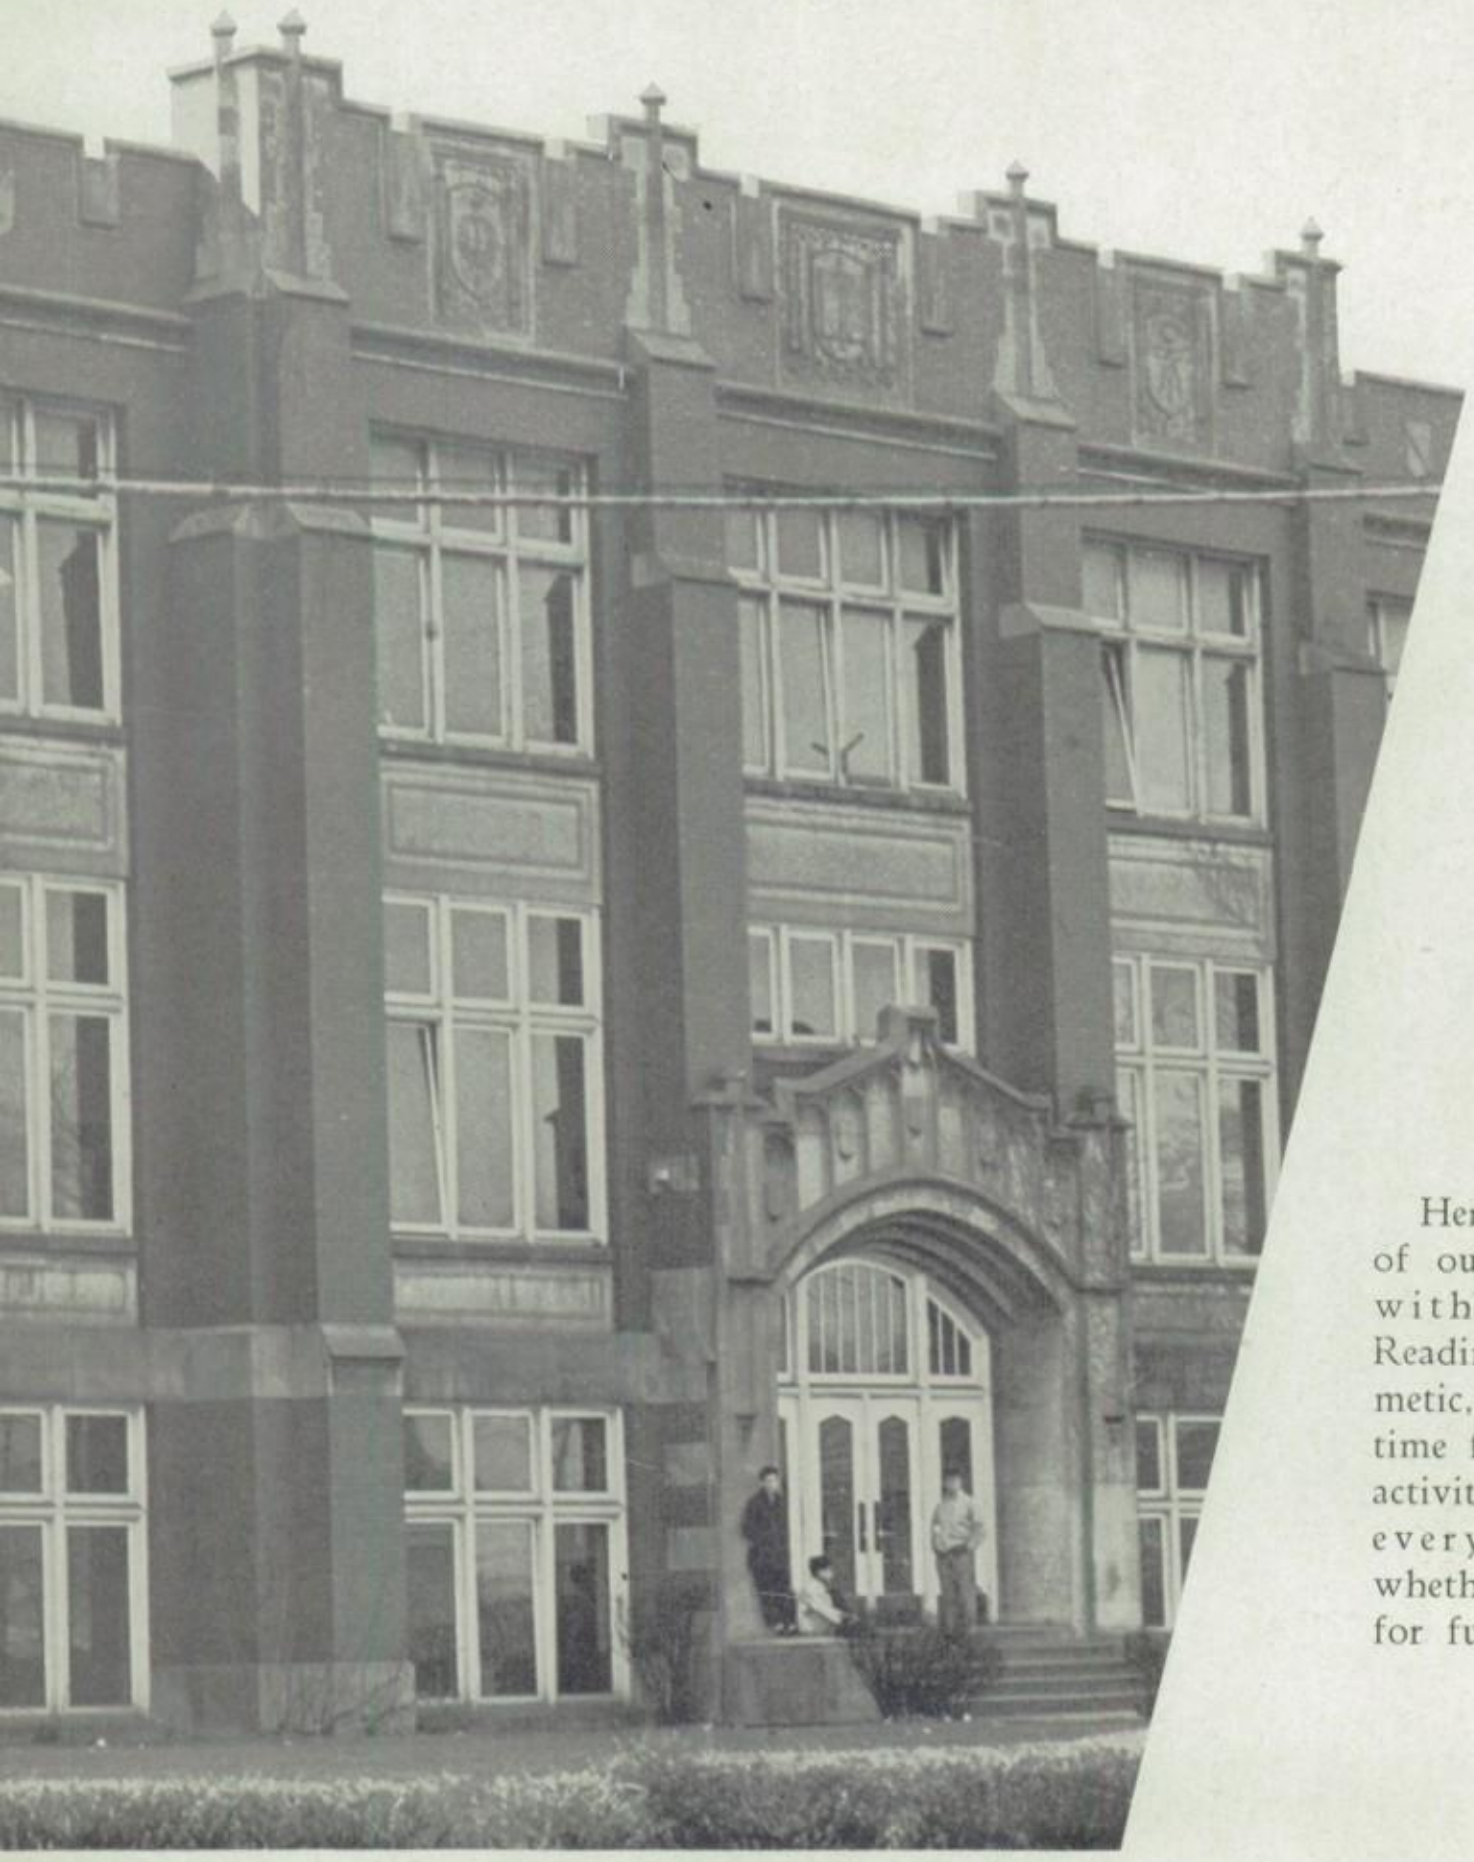
To Mr. C. V. Haworth, retiring Superintendent of the Kokomo Public Schools, we gratefully dedicate this 1946 Sargasso. During his 33 years of faithful service, he has devoted many hours and minutes to improving and supervising our school. Because of his conscientious effort and his personal interest in each one of us, we are happy to pay tribute to him.

The Time of Our Lives

Time! Our lives are governed by time. We get up to the tune of an alarm clock, arrive at school at the stroke of eight, and spend the day reciting or studying in hourly periods. After school and in the evening we spend time with extra-curricular activities, have dates, or follow the sport in season. Finally, after a last, weary look at the clock, we slip into bed to dream of the next twenty-four hours, each one packed with minutes for recreation, minutes for work, and minutes for play.

The Time of

Our Lives



Here in our school most of our time is taken up with the three R's, Readin', Ritin', and 'Rithmetic, but we still find time for sports and other activities. We have made every minute count, whether it be for study or for fun.

We Find The School Arranged

Planning in advance is a good way to save time. Here Miss Dorothy Thornburgh, student counsellor, helps a freshman choose her curriculum.

Conveniently located in the school building are the cafeteria and the bookstore, where students save both time and money in purchasing meals and school supplies.

to Save Time

Miss Nelda Showalter learns the whereabouts of a pupil by glancing quickly through the files in the Dean's office for his directory card which lists the pupil's schedule for the school day.

When it is time for study, students take advantage of the two study halls and the school library, where they may get their lessons without fear of being disturbed.

Time for Administration

Yes, we've had the time of our lives this year! Not only have we enjoyed good times but we have used our time profitably in studying. We have learned that Caesar was a Roman general and that Macbeth was a Shakespearian character, but above all we have learned to use our time wisely and without wasting it on unimportant things.

We were fortunate in having an excellent teaching staff throughout the year even though at times flu forced the school administration to provide substitute instructors. However, in spite of difficulties the administration worked smoothly and efficiently to give us one of our best years of

These Are The Mainsprings

Mr. C. V. Haworth points out a school law to Mrs. Blanche Jay.

The genial and well-liked superintendent of the Kokomo public schools, Mr. C. V. Haworth, is constantly spending time in the improvement of our school system. It is largely due to his efforts that Kokomo has such a high educational standing.

Mr. Haworth received his A. B. and A. M. degrees from Indiana University and has been associated with the teaching profession for many years. He is in charge of providing good teachers for our Kokomo public schools and also sees that our schools have all the modern equipment and facilities that are necessary for modern methods of teaching.

The people of Kokomo, and especially the students of the public schools, are very proud of the fine work that he has accomplished in heading the city's schools and feel confident that the future of the Kokomo public schools will be as successful as the past years.

of Our School Clockwork

Mr. C. E. Hinshaw looks up from his desk.

The man chiefly responsible for running KHS in clockwork manner is our principal, Mr. C. E. Hinshaw. Besides taking care of administrative responsibilities such as arranging each pupil's program for the school year, or supervising the distribution of basketball tickets, he finds time for faculty meetings, conferences with teachers or pupils, meeting with student organizations, and teaching a class in summer school.

A graduate from Indiana University and the holder of an A. M. degree from Columbia University, Mr. Hinshaw has been the capable leader of Kokomo High School for a number of years. It is obvious that through his high qualities of leadership, friendliness, and understanding, he has won the admiration of teachers and students alike. It is through his efforts and time that Kokomo has such a fine high school.

and See That the Wheels Are Oiled

Kokomo has always been fortunate in having capable persons willing to devote time to the school's problems.

Because the members of the School Board must adopt all school policies, provide means for their execution, and see that they are carried out, they often find themselves exceedingly busy.

From her office in the high school building, Mrs. Lelah Louth, city attendance officer, journeys over the city persuading disinterested pupils that their time can be spent most profitably in school.

In Mr. Haworth's office five busy girls prove that a good office force is necessary for the administration to function properly. These are Mrs. Blanche Jay, secretary to the Board of Education; Mrs. Ruth Carden, her assistant; Mrs. Ruth Wickersham, Mr. Haworth's secretary; Mrs. Rozella Finch, secretary to the grade supervisor; and Miss Betty Oilar, switchboard operator.

Downstairs Miss Pauline Surface serves as secretary to Mr. Virgil Fleenor.

In the high school office, Miss Neva Bourne, besides being secretary to Mr. Hinshaw, handles all school funds and has charge of all records. An Administrative Council composed of both Deans and five other teachers chosen by ballot help Mr. Hinshaw form high school policies.

To these people who spend their time that we may make the most of our days in school, we are grateful.

Counseling in Time

The time of our lives for counseling is during our high school days. All incoming students received particular attention from our counseling program headed by Miss Dorothy Thornburgh and Mr. Lloyd Keisling, who spent hours talking to each new pupil, learning his curriculum problems and solving his difficulties.

However, the most of our counseling was done by our two friendly and efficient Deans. Students felt free to take their problems to their respective Deans at any time, often only taking a few minutes and sometimes taking several hours. Besides time spent on counseling pupils, the Deans found time for supervising the proceedings of the Girls' League and Boys' Legion, caring for all absentees, and teaching a class apiece.

Miss Estella G. Pearce, Dean of Girls, received her Ph. B. from Ripon College and has been serving KHS for ten years. During her illness last fall, Miss Lyla Sill capably assumed the role of temporary dean. The Dean of Boys, Mr. J. Paul Jones, has been at KHS since the fall of 1931. He received his A. B. and A. M. degrees from Butler University.

The minutes and hours spent with our Deans gave us lessons to last a lifetime.

Dr. Will J. Martin examines a pupil's throat while Nurse Esther Edwards records his report.

She Keeps Us Ticking

The health of the students in Kokomo High School is looked after by the school nurse, Miss Esther Edwards, and the school doctor, Dr. Will J. Martin. This wasn't Miss Edwards' first year in KHS, for she is a former student. Like many other former students, she served her country during the war by entering the U. S. Army Nurse Corps in November, 1942, and was a member of that organization until October, 1945. During this time she spent several months overseas in Africa, Sicily, Italy, France, and Germany.

The nurse's office is in room 204 and is a bright, clean room. At any time during the day, Nurse Edwards or one of her assistants could be found here to take care of all the aches and pains.

Each year several tests are conducted by the nurse and school doctor. The most important of these tests is the Tuberculin Patch Test. Miss Edwards also supervises the physical examinations given each year to all junior and senior girls and to all other girls sixteen years of age and over.

Miss Edwards has taken over the duties of her predecessor as sponsor of the Pre-Nursing club.

The English department is one of the biggest departments in Kokomo High School. Miss Helen Ross is the very capable supervisor of this department. She, with the other teachers of the department, tried to teach us the correct usage of our language.

In the study of English, students who were bewildered about the use of adjectives, adverbs, nouns, and pronouns quickly learned the mechanics of English during the hours spent under our English instructors.

Besides teaching grammar in their classes, the English teachers tried to achieve the impossible by helping the students to have a better understanding of literature, music, and drama. Thoughts of great and well-known men, life in foreign countries, age-old fiction, and modern writers' work were also studied. However, in recent years practical application has been stressed more and more instead of classical interpretation in literature.

The English department taught classes in business English, journalism, English composition, and speech. These classes, along with the usual English classes, were made more interesting by supplementing the work with recordings and motion pictures.

The activities of our speech classes showed the up-to-date methods of teaching English. This class sponsored a series of interesting radio programs given over WKMO.

The general aim of the English department is to give the students a better knowledge and understanding of the English language and literature which, in turn, will help them in the future years.

In speech class students practiced voice placement and enunciation as well as the parts of a good speech. Later they utilized their knowledge by appearing over WKMO once a week.

In 4B composition all seniors in the academic course, as well as others who wanted special English training, drilled on grammar and practiced writing stories, descriptions, and letters.

Commercial

The future lawyers, bookkeepers, and secretaries who will some day make headlines in the commercial field, received a firm foundation in the Commercial courses under the leadership of Mr. Russell Bratton, who heads the department. Students learned to use both their hands and minds skillfully by practical use of the many office machines, such as the comptometer, calculator, and the ediphone, which can be found in room 119.

While the bookkeeping students traced lost pennies, the shorthand classes transcribed typical business letters from dictation; and the business law classes became familiar with the many laws of business. The office practice classes, especially, learned the routine of an office by actual doing. Students saved teachers time by serving as secretaries and running off many stencils, all of which was a practical application of what they had learned throughout their commercial course.

"Get your papers ready for a timed writing," was a familiar phrase to all students taking typing. These writings, which were from one to ten minutes in length, were given to increase the skill and accuracy of student typists. The students couldn't afford to waste any time on these, and so they made each second count.

A glance in room 110 after school found many students hurrying to finish their weekly budgets. Fluorescent lighting and soundproof ceilings were a great help.

The commercial students, in both the bookkeeping and stenographic divisions, received sufficient background to take their places in a rapidly growing field in a better, peacetime business world.

Mathematics

Under the supervision of Mr. Fred Moss, head of the mathematics department, and the six other teachers of the department, most of us spent part of our time during the past year finding unknown quantities and proving geometric theorems.

Mathematics is one subject that is hard to adapt to visual education; but during the year when opportunities arose for the use of films or slides, they were used in classroom work. Revisions in the math department are constantly being made to keep up with modern trends.

With the end of the war came a reduction in the number of required semesters of mathematics before one could take the higher courses offered in KHS. During the war great stress was put on both mathematics and science, so three and a half years of math were required for students graduating in the academic course; but now it has been reduced to the pre-war three-years requirement. Many students, however, took advantage of the advanced courses offered.

In algebra class we learned how to solve complex equations; in geometry we learned that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line; and in trigonometry we learned about sines and co-sines, all of which will help us to be better qualified in any field we choose. Our teachers realized that a good knowledge of mathematics will be essential in this postwar world, and so they helped us to use our time wisely in class.

Language

Many years have elapsed since man first began to utter speech. Since that time the different tongues have grown to great importance. This is true of both of the languages taught by KHS, Latin and Spanish. Though Latin is now considered a dead language in that it isn't spoken by any race of people, it is still the basis of many more modern tongues. Proof of this is the fact that the English language itself is made up of words of which sixty per-cent are of Latin derivation. In the study of Spanish, we learned that time had also developed this language until it has become of great importance. In the post-war years it will continue to grow in importance also, for there are Spanish-speaking people in both hemispheres with whom we must be on the best of terms.

Under the supervision of Miss Ruth Campbell and Miss Helen Railsback, heads of the Spanish and Latin departments respectively, much of the time in the study of these languages has been devoted to customs, dress, interests, and lives of the people of ancient Rome and of the people of Spanish-speaking countries. This study was combined with many visual and other-type aids such as maps, models, costumes, playlets, and recordings.

Our study of Caesar's campaigns in Europe and of Spanish customs gave us a well-rounded knowledge of the Romans and of the South Americans.

This knowledge gained from minutes spent in the study of foreign language proved that our time was not wasted in learning declensions and conjugations.

Science

Science is defined as the "systematized knowledge of the conditions and relations of mind and matter." In KHS students enroll in physics, chemistry, biology, or aeronautics classes for credit in science.

These students in Mr. Lester McCarty's 3A chemistry class are making carbon dioxide.

The peculiar odors that often filled the corridors generally came from the chemistry laboratory, which was furnished with new equipment this year. Here students carried on experiments with the help of their teachers. In the chemistry classes, Mr. Lester McCarty and Mr. Haven Jones taught facts and figures about the ninety-two elements and what happens when they combine or separate.

In the physics lab, which contains much valuable equipment—some of which was used by the government in pre-flight schools—Mr. Barclay Morris taught many students the physical laws that govern the universe.

Mr. Walter Cross and Mr. Olin Merritt taught students taking biology about animal life from the lowest form, the protozoa, to the highest form, the human being.

Aeronautics students, taught by Mr. Merritt, learned how to use an altimeter as well as studied the principles of meterology, wind velocity, and navigation.

Vocational

Often while sitting peacefully in a class our quiet minutes of study were broken by noise coming from the vicinity of the first floor. We wondered if the world were coming to an end, but upon inquiring later, we found that the noise had been created by the boys who were industriously spending their time learning to run the woodshop machinery.

Upon further investigation, we found that the woodshop is not, as we had previously thought, a department in itself, but is a part of the extensive vocational department under the able leadership of Mr. Virgil Fleenor. Here a competent staff of teachers instruct in machine shop, auto mechanics, general shop, woodworking, radio, printing, related math, and drafting.

These various courses teach the student how to operate machines correctly and efficiently, how to weld, how to make radios, how to make plans correctly and to scale, how to read blueprints, how to print with a printing machine, how to set type, and how to repair and paint automobiles.

The various vocational classes are not only using their time teaching students trades but also do many services for the school and the public. The drafting classes helped save time in planning the layout of our school publications and also helped plan our future gymnasium. The printing classes printed our slips and report blanks. The auto mechanics shop and the radio classes also spent time in doing service for the school in the repairing of radios and automobiles.

The equipment of the printing shop, radio shop, woodshop, related math, and drafting room is located in the high school building, while the remaining vocational equipment such as auto mechanics, welding, general shop, and machine shop equipment is located in the basement of Haworth gymnasium.

After a student has graduated from the vocational course, he is qualified to take a job in the profession for which he was trained.

The Kokomo High School student who graduates from the vocational course will have a big part to play in the rebuilding of our war-shattered world. For by planning, drafting, and making the articles which are so greatly in demand today, he will help lessen the post-war problems which we now face. His high school training will help him a great deal in accomplishing this.

Social Studies

What would the social studies department be without time? The study of history is so related to time that without the latter, there would be no history. Every year that has passed since the beginning of time has been full of historical dates. Though many of these dates have been blotted out by time itself, the ones that have been recorded make up what we know as history.

The termination of the war brought relief to us all, but with it came a new series of dates and historical events that in years to come will perplex many future KHS students. However, these students, like the present ones, will take the additional dates and events in their stride.

The war's end also brought back two teachers who were in the service and so eased our teacher shortage this year. By the second semester Mr. C. H. Laymon had returned from service in India with the Army Air Force and Mr. Charles C. Lester was back from the Navy.

Mrs. Mildred Kern also helped in this respect. She substituted for Miss Elizabeth McIntosh the second semester. Her work was greatly appreciated both by the members of the social studies department and the students themselves.

The social studies department offered many subjects of interest and importance this year. Besides teaching their usual studies of world history, United States history, and government, the department offered new courses such as geography and sociology. Mr. Laymon taught the course of geography and Mr. Utterback instructed the students in sociology.

As the year of instruction in social studies classes flew by, we students learned to appreciate our country, its principles, its geography, its customs, and its laws. We also learned how our government is run; and with this new knowledge we looked forward to the future when we will find ourselves responsible for the complex task of governing the United States.

Our studies were not limited to history and government, however, for we also spent much time keeping up on current events and their meaning. We studied the strike problems, the inter-racial differences, the United Nations plans; and each of us emerged from our study with opinions concerning these problems. We participated in two clubs that studied current events and their effect on future occurrences. One of these, the Franklin club, studied current happenings in general, while the other, the Pan-American club, studied the customs of our neighboring American countries and tried to promote a better feeling for our fellow Americans.

As a result of the work provided by the social studies department under the leadership of Miss Gertrude Colescott, we students emerged from KHS better equipped to take our places in the world.

In government classes seniors study the three branches of our government, the Constitution, and some of our state and national laws. Here in Mr. Earl Wilson's class they are learning the federal and state system of courts.

All social studies classes spend time on current events so that the students may become familiar with the problems of their country and the world. In this 2B class of Mr. Fred Mustard's, two pupils lead the discussion.

Home Economics

Through practical experience, students in the home economics department, under the capable heading of Miss Chestina Williams and the other teachers of the department, worked to become skillful in the art of home-making. A really successful home is hard to achieve, and so the home ec department strived to teach us how to produce beautiful and well-organized homes. Girls received timely tips from their teachers, from magazines, books, and other sources.

The sewing machines and stoves were kept busy as future housewives learned to produce ideas and products. In clothing and home management, the study of color charts, designs, fabrics, and arrangements was stressed to improve both the home and personal appearance. Girls learned to emphasize their good qualities and conceal their poor ones. They also learned that patience and practical experience were two things necessary to produce good results.

Buying classes learned how to budget their time and money during rationing and then learned how to enlarge and improve their buying when wartime restrictions were removed.

In foods classes the principle of time was essential. Students learned to prepare meals on time; they learned to prepare meals that were nourishing as well as attractive; they learned to save time and money by purchasing food in advance; they also learned the rules of good etiquette.

Interesting films on foods, buying, clothing, home management, and etiquette were shown in the classes and were greatly approved by the students.

The alert minds of the home economics students, with menus and needles as their chief tools, learned the fundamentals of good homemaking.

Art and Music

Room 113 was the scene of much activity this year. Miss Bernice McKinley and her art students had a busy time from the first day of school to the last.

Besides the regular study of drawing, the art classes spent time studying the many types of pottery, modern artists and the nature of their art, and art as related to the many different occupations. The art classes also gave home room and P. T. A. programs.

A trip to Indianapolis by the students proved to be very profitable because as a result of the time spent at the various art centers, the students gained in practical knowledge.

Though many art students will not take up art as a career, they will always appreciate art and will apply the principles of good art in their future years.

The music department completed another successful year under the leadership of Miss Mary A. Fausset, the director of the high school choir and Mr. Mahlon Mercer, the director of the band and orchestra.

The choir, accompanied by Rebecca Sloan, sang in many enjoyable school and civic programs. The annual spring concert was also extremely successful.

Because of the limited space in the Kokomo armory, the band could not play at the basketball games, but they lent their support in other school functions.

Looking back over the past year, we can all remember the minutes of entertainment afforded us by the choir, band, orchestra, and glee clubs, and feel justly proud that they are an important part of Kokomo High School.

Much of our time was taken up by physical education periods. The upperclassmen were given a break this year because they took physical training only three times a week instead of five. Two of the three days were used in the regular training program and the third was used as a classroom instruction period. The underclassmen continued their gym schedule for three days a week as before.

The general aims of our physical education program were: first, the promotion of good health; and second, the formation of proper habits of action. To achieve these aims, a well-rounded program of calisthenics, athletic exercises, combative exercises, and games were put into effect by our gym instructors. The calisthenics consisted of many muscle-stretching exercises which put us in "shape." Included in the athletic exercises were running, jumping, tumbling, swimming, weight lifting, and weight throwing. The combative exercises were boxing and wrestling. The games were many and varied. This category included softball, touch football, basketball, golf, and volley ball.

Our gym classes met in many scattered places throughout the year. Most of the boys' classes were held at the YMCA, room 200A, and Kautz field, while the regular girls' classes met in the girls' gym and the girls' swimming classes were at the YMCA.

Courses of instruction in health and safety were also offered to freshmen boys and girls. In the health course, which was a half-year course, we learned about the human anatomy and how to care for it. The safety class was also a half-year course in which we learned the rules of safety and causes of accidents.

With the return of many teachers from the armed forces, Mr. Chester Hill again assumed the duties of the Director of Athletics and Physical Education and Mr. Wm. T. Smith again coached spring baseball. Mrs. Helen Smith joined the faculty, too, and taught the girls swimming.

We will all realize as the years pass that the gym program was time well spent.

Senior boys enjoy their swimming period.

Calisthenics form a regular part of the girls' gym program.

Library

Mrs. Winifred Edwards advises a student about a book.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Winifred Edwards, a recent addition to the faculty, the large sunny library was a pleasant place in which to spend time, whether we wanted to study, get a report from the numerous biographies and encyclopedias, or just browse through books. Besides a large circulating library, which included carefully selected modern fiction, there were made available to the students three daily newspapers and sixty-two national magazines.

Bookstore

"Pencil please." "I'd like a pad of paper." These are familiar phrases to Mrs. Minta Lynch, the high school bookstore manager and her assistant, Miss Helen Hooker. These two efficient workers rent books and sell other books and equipment needed for our life at KHS. The bookstore operates on a small profit and, therefore, students are able to purchase supplies at reasonable prices. Mrs. Lynch and Miss Hooker serve not only KHS, but all the schools throughout Howard County. The bookstore is operated from the middle of August to the end of summer school. Extra help is hired at the beginning of each semester to take care of the rush.

Mrs. Minta Lynch shows Miss Helen Hooker a record of the day's sales.

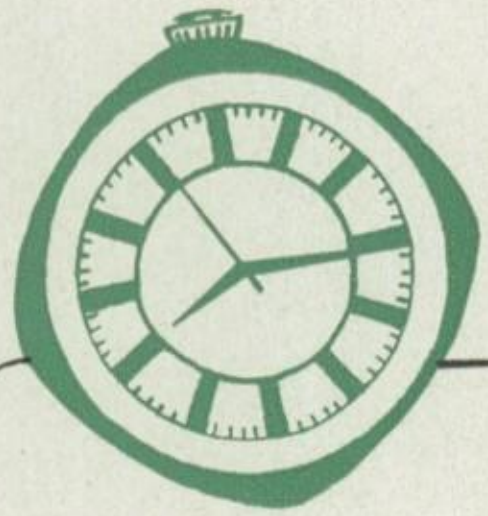
Cooks

"Sugar and spice and everything nice." That's what the cooks of KHS made for us. Just think how they worked over a hot stove cooking stews, vegetables, meats, and soups, and baking pies and cakes that sent their luscious aroma through the halls near noontime. No wonder there was a stampede every fourth and fifth period to get in the chow line. We all know and appreciate the careful planning, work, and care that went into preparing the nutritious and well-balanced lunches.

Posed in the furnace room of the heating plant are Mr. Nelson Cooprider, Mr. Warren Miller, Mr. Charles Martin, Mr. Lawrence Lawson, Mr. Arch Golding, and Mr. Charles Beatty.

Maintenance

One special group of people around this school of ours had a job all its own. It played the part of housekeeper to the KHS family. If it isn't one job it's another, and although winter brought more work at the heating plant, it was in the good old summertime when the school got a "new face" and perked up for the coming of September. Even with the help of the Clean-Up Campaign, there still was plenty of work to be found before and after school hours. The matrons, doing their share in keeping the place spic 'n' span, were Mrs. Ruth Heilman and Mrs. Flossie Kauble.



Time for Classmates

When the bell announced the end of a class we rushed to our lockers, grabbed our books and spent the few remaining minutes talking to our friends. Although we had only five minutes between classes, we managed to walk our "best girl" to class or discuss last night's ball game.

After a hurried lunch we gathered in the auditorium to talk with friends before the afternoon classes.

Though time often blots out the unimportant incidents of our lives, it will never destroy the memory of good times at the canteen, or coke dates at the corner drug store with our high school

Friends

Freshmen Punch the Clock

The upper-classmen found it a little difficult to "pull the wool" over the eyes of the freshies this year, for these freshmen didn't need to look for escalators; they knew where they were ahead of time. They definitely viewed life with the impatience of youth. Although high school proved to be a great change, the freshmen made themselves welcome by quickly getting acquainted and adapting themselves to our fast-moving program.

To prove their ability in leadership, they sent Rosemary Abbott, Bill Brown, Barbara Dutton, Don Johnson, Lloyd Lewis, Maurice Sleeth, Gene Thatcher, and Glenn Umbarger to the Student Council. They were represented in the Boys' Legion by Richard Farmer, Mark Ormsby, Don Button, Don Wines, and Bob Longshore. They chose Barbara Dutton and June Hutchins for their Girls' League representatives. Lovely Nancy Bromley was their candidate for Sweetheart of the Stardust Ball.

Although the freshmen were allowed to take part in only a few extra-curricular activities, they proved their worth in various ways by serving on minor committees, belonging to freshman clubs, supporting our teams, studying hard, and making many new friends.

The freshies have successfully completed one year here in KHS and have three more wonderful years to enjoy the time of their lives!

Sophomores Spend Time Wisely

"On the beam" describes the Class of '48. As sophomores they felt as though they were really members of this well-loved three-story building. They were given opportunities to join clubs and participate in many other extra-curricular activities.

They startled the school by showing they were equal or even better than the upper-classmen in athletics, dramatics, and in numerous other activities.

They were represented in the Boys' Legion by Gene Cole, Jack Ellis, Barney Petty, Harry Webb, and Bob Wilson; and in the Girls' League by Barbara Rhorer and Nancy Adams.

They sent Leroy Barron, Ray Davis, Robert Franks, Bill Gloye, Corwin Huston, Paul Lynch, Shirley Nicholson, Marty Rouch, Carl Siktberg, and Barbara Sumpter to the Student Council.

Charming Charmaine Summers represented them in the Sweetheart Court at the Stardust Ball.

OFFICERS

Vice-President Bud Jones, Secretary Tom Craig, Treasurer Miriam Showalter and President Fines Zugelder leave school.

Juniors Find Time for Study and Fun

Juniors! A magic word which means upperclassmen, the coveted class jewelry, class officers, and many other things. This year the juniors astonished everyone by their leadership in many activities.

To lead the class they elected Fines Zugelder, president; Bud Jones, vice-president; Tom Craig, secretary; and Miriam Showalter, treasurer.

To represent them in the Boys' Legion Board of Directors they sent Nelson Babb, Joe Smith, Fines Zugelder, Tom Lear, Ted Teegarden, Tom Noble, and Jim Sheerin. To the Girls' League Council they sent Beverly Wiebers and Delores Johnson.

Nelson Babb, Barbara Bagwell, Bill Bugher, Dick Gamrath, Ruth Hedrick, Jean Holman, Norman Kerr, Charles Marsalla, Tom Martin, Tom Noble, Jim Sheerin, Joe Smith, Bob Webb, and Fines Zugelder were chosen by the juniors to take part in the Student Council.

Barbara Bagwell and Edris Pearce, junior candidates, cast a radiant glow to the Sweetheart Court of the Stardust Ball.

After seeing what the class of '47 has done the last three years, the class of '46 feels safe in leaving the school in their hands.

This year's junior sponsors were: Miss Dorothea Pohlman and Mrs. Isabella Legg, co-chairmen; Mr. Everett Mason, Miss Mary A. Fausset, Mr. Fred Hawkins, Mr. Raymond Trobaugh, Mrs. Pauline Orem, and Mr. Chester Thompson.

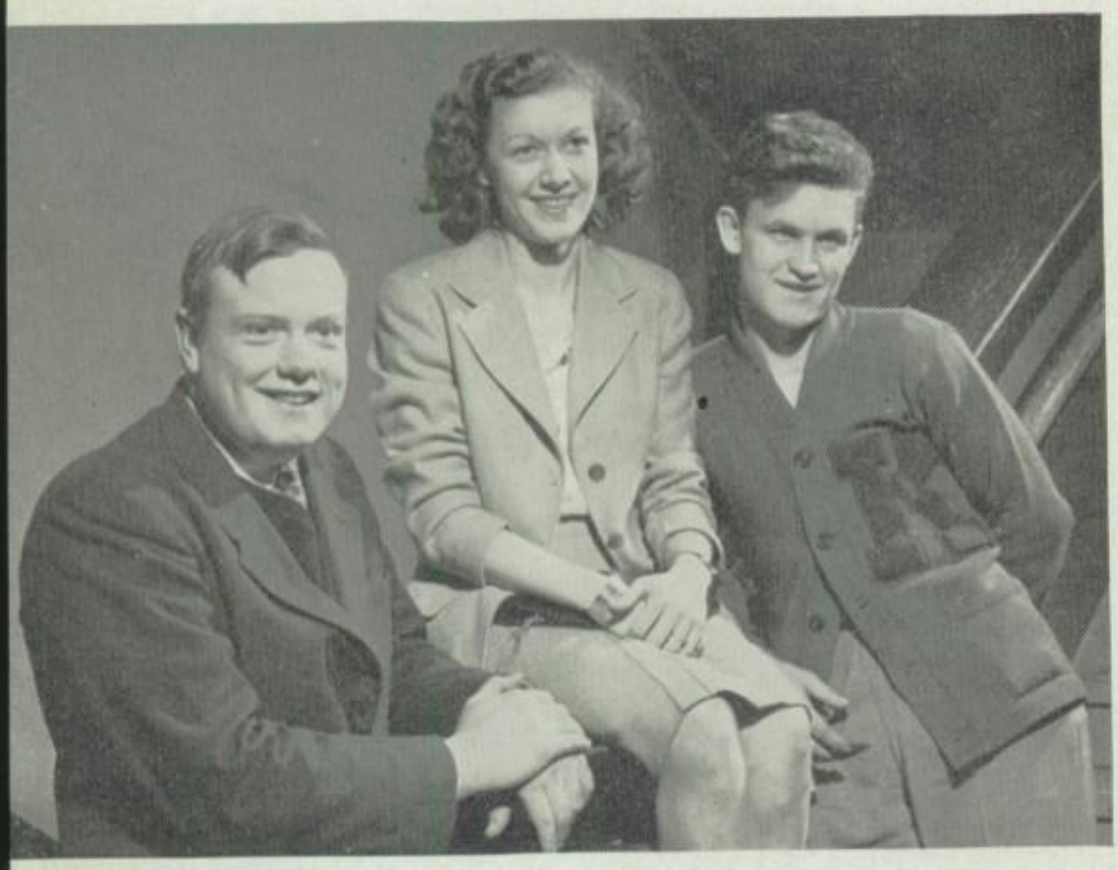
Seniors Pack More Activities



JANUARY
CLASS OFFICERS

President William Keyes, Secretary-Treasurer Doris Ann Orem, and Vice-President Gerald Williams pose on steps.

"Time Marches On." And now we are seniors. The long journey is over and a successful chapter has been written in the book of our lives. On the eve of departure we look back over twelve years of school, each one meaning harder work but also better times. We carry with us more than an education; we carry memories of friendships and good times.

In the fall of 1942 a new group of "green" freshies arrived to join the merry throng.

The next year as sophomores we rubbed it in on the freshies the same as the juniors and seniors did.

As juniors we sported the envied class jewelry and sponsored a reception with a Gay '90's theme.

The senior year started out with a bang! The Lens was sold soon after school started. The Red and Blue broke all records by circulating a paper the first day of school.

Everyone enjoyed and will remember such productions as Death Takes a Holiday, the Sargasso play, and the annual Hullabaloo in true vaudeville style. The seniors showed extraordinary talent in the class play, Do Re Mi.

To lead the class David Huston was elected president; Pat Daly, vice-president; Norbert Cameron, secretary; and Roberta Doran, treasurer.

Student Council representatives were Elsie Boruff, Pat Daly, Don Gevirtz, Jack Kendall, Bob Mettlen, Marjorie Roe, Sam Van Sickle, and David Huston, president.

Into Their School Day

JUNE
CLASS OFFICERS

Vice-President Pat Daly, President David Huston, Treasurer Roberta Doran, and Secretary Norbert Cameron keep in step for a good year.

Jack Kendall was elected the president of the Boys' Legion; David Hamp, vice-president; Dick Renshaw, secretary; Ted Moore, Pat Daly, David Huston, representatives.

Janet Hicks was the president of the Girls' League the first semester; Rebecca Sloan, the second semester. Betty Julow was the vice-president and Marilyn Mitchell, the secretary. The representatives were Joan Jenkins and Louise Duke.

Mid-term students fought hard for a graduation in January and finally succeeded. Their officers were Bill Keyes, president; Gerald Williams, vice-president; and Doris Orem, secretary-treasurer.

This year, in the first peace-time year for four years, Kokomo held a veteran graduation, the only one of its kind. Major General William Kepner was the speaker and also received his diploma at that time.

Lovely Marilyn Mitchell reigned as queen over an unforgettable Stardust Ball. The other Senior candidate was Martha Smith.

Taking pictures in caps and gowns, sending out invitations, receiving gifts and congratulations from friends and relatives were reserved for us seniors alone. Our glorious year was climaxed with the Senior Week, in which we attended the picturesque Junior Prom, had our final examinations, took part in Class Day, Baccalaureate, and Commencement.

The sponsors for the class were Miss Lilith Farlow, Miss Gertrude Colescott, Mrs. Mildred Kern, and Mr. Lester McCarty.

And now to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance" we leave the school, joyfully but sadly bidding it farewell.

January Song

TUNE TO: TILL THE END OF TIME

DEAR OLD KHS

When the year is through,
We will think of you and then,
We'll remember all the fun we've had at dear old KHS.
When the night is done,
And our work is put away,
Our dreams of you will be the finest that we have ever had.
Now we leave our books,
To the students that are left,
While we venture out into the world in search of happiness.
So we are thanking all our teachers,
The principal and the staff,
For their cooperation
In dear old KHS.

BONNIE CREAMER.

June Song

TUNE TO: I CAN'T BEGIN TO TELL YOU

Our hearts are heavy-ladened
As we leave KHS,
Our mem'ries linger with us as we go.
The friends we made in classes
The lessons we have learned,
Remind us of the joys
We've come to know.
Our Freshman year was happy
As Sophomores we were glad
Our Junior year was also dear
As Seniors we are sad.
But though we love you dearly
Our days with you are through

G. I. Graduation

Major General William E. Kepner

Major General William E. Kepner finished a thirty-seven year vacation from Kokomo High School last March 28. Back in the year of 1909, "Billy" Kepner was an ordinary KHS school boy, and like any ordinary boy he wanted some adventure. However, unlike most boys, he didn't sit around wasting time thinking about what he could be doing. He did something about it by enlisting in the U. S. Marines during his sophomore year in KHS.

His "adventure" turned out to be a profession as the years rolled by and he grew interested in army life. He served overseas in World War I and following the war became interested in the Air Corps. After years of working, learning, and gaining experience, General Kepner grew to be one of the country's best officers. He was given many important positions of command in the second world war and emerged with his present rank of Major General.

General Kepner's theme song might have been "It's Been a Long, Long Time" when he returned to Kokomo High School in March to receive his long-awaited diploma with thirty-nine other veterans of the past war.

Military Event of Year

Setting the pace for high schools all over the United States, KHS had the first real war-veteran commencement. Along with the thirty-nine G. I.'s who received their diplomas, was Major General William E. Kepner, of the United States Air Corps.

These men who have spent the last few years fighting and working for democracy were given some of the same commodity on March 28, 1946, when they took part in commencement. To be eligible for graduation, these men who had formerly been enrolled in Kokomo High School either acquired schooling while in service or passed the General Educational Development Tests.

Present at the graduation exercises were representatives of many outstanding magazines and papers. Flash bulbs popped as General Kepner and his thirty-nine colleagues were honored by the faculty, students, and citizens of Kokomo.

The following service men received diplomas:

Time for Action

Time is of great importance in athletics. New records are established when track men lower their running time and basketball or football games are decided by the final whistle which is sounded as the last second rolls by. These games are made exciting by the time element that is ever-present. Everyone has experienced the atmosphere of excitement that is a part of every game in the closing minutes when both teams are striving to score before it's too late.

As a result of this race between men and time, each thrill-packed second is reward enough for those attending or participating in

Sport Highlights

Strutting and twirling their batons, these majorettes lent color and interest to each football game where the band performed. They were: Barbara Martin, Twila Stackleback, Jean Johnson, Betty Lou Gatlin, Janice Taylor, and Wilhelmina Poppas, their leader, who does not appear in the picture.

For the second consecutive year Kokomo won the North Central Conference basketball trophy. Mr. Stanley Porter, conference president, presented the award to Coach Ralph King at the Victory dinner here in the high school cafeteria.

"Yea, Wildcats! Fight!" At each game throughout the sports season this familiar Kat-Kall was led by the four cheer leaders: Dan Moose, Tom Noble, Pat Kendall, and Carolyn Toye.

Football Scoring Machinery

Lady Luck seemed to frown on a band of football players some 65 strong that represented Kokomo High during 1945. Grid coach Raymond "Tubby" Trobaugh's Wildcats won five times while losing on four occasions. However, overcoming many difficulties, our Kats completed a fairly successful football season.

21-6 Brilliantly opening the '45 season on September 7, the Kats showed their ability to play successfully as a unit by defeating the Wabash Apaches. Fines Zugelder scored two touchdowns and booted two conversions while John Platt took a lateral from Wendell Maupin and dashed 45 yards for the third touchdown.

13-0 Mist and heavy rain played havoc with our light backfield on September 14 when Marion defeated the Kats in a hard-fought game. Outstanding on the Kokomo team were two guards, Gerald Williams and team captain Wayne Clark.

Times Four Losses and

20-13 Before a crowd of 5,000 fans at Peru, the Kats nosed out the Bengals in an action-packed game. In the opening minutes, Daly drove over for Kokomo's first counter only to have Peru even the score. Just before the close of the half, Peru again scored on a pass over pay-dirt. Zugelder scored in the third period to tie the score, and with a few minutes left, a pass to Platt gave the Kats a hard-won victory.

13-0 Fighting against great odds (the rain and Jefferson of Lafayette) the Kats fell in defeat. Kokomo linemen Bush, Killings, and Cowell gave the fans a fine sample of good line play, but Kokomo's offense could never get the lacking push to score.

20-12 Victory came again to the Kats when they traveled to Elwood to tangle with the Panthers. Zugelder scored two of the Wildcat tallies while Bob Wilson carried the pigskin for the third Kokomo touchdown.

24-12 Outclassing the Logansport football squad, Coach Trobaugh's boys won a conference game. Touchdowns by Wilson, Platt, and Daly gave Kokomo success. Our ends were right in there too. Wendell Maupin intercepted a pass and ran 50 yards, while Bud Jones made many good tackles and blocks.

Five Victories For KHS

6-0 Crowds estimated at over 3,500 cheered as the Wildcats won from Frankfort on Frankfort's gridiron. Dodging, twisting, and reeling 64 yards, quarterback John Platt made the winning Kat touchdown in the second play of the game.

58-13 In a midweek contest, Muncie's conference champions trounced the Wildcats in a very decisive game. A 100-yard run by Pat Daly brought Kokomo six points, and in the waning minutes of the game the Wildcats scored their other tally.

36-6 Dropping the curtain of the 1945 season, the Kokomo Kats absorbed a defeat at the hands of Central of Evansville. The Bears allowed the Kats only one touchdown, which was made by a pass from Tom Lear to John Platt.

Through the efforts of the football coach, Raymond "Tubby" Trobaugh, our Kats learned the time-honored American principles of good sportsmanship and cooperation. Many exciting and enjoyable minutes were enjoyed by the Wildcats fans during the games in which "Tubby's" boys played.

Timely Tip-Ins Pace

As one of the hottest basketball towns in the world, it's not surprising that Kokomo sported a hardwood combination well equipped with class, drive, and firing power. A top-flight team like our '46 squad didn't just happen. KHS had a coach that developed the Kats into the championship "wintet" that they were. We all know him as Ralph King, the man with the "winning" personality. He turned loose a net squad that served up to Hoosierland a generous helping of steaming hot basketball that was strictly a la King.

Sheridan was first to usher in the '45-'46 campaign. The KHS netters tucked the Nighthawks in bed with a 35-28 sleeping pill.

In the next game with Rossville, the Hornets were buzzin' angrily as they stung the Kats' nose in a decisive 43-28 shoving around. Kokomo's Kagers hadn't shifted gears into third yet due to the football kinks still hanging on.

Next on the menu came the Frankfort Hot Dogs, which were devoured hungrily by the Katteam to the merry tune of 53-26.

Up marched Tech of Indianapolis in full battle gear and with one "immediate objective" —Kokomo. The Kats won their second N.C.C. game by reducing the Green Wave into a harmless ripple with a 36-24 submerging.

It was at Marion's Coliseum that the Katmen picked up the "second-half habit." In the last stanza rally, the Kats cut the Giants down to their size with a 33-29 trimming. Jack Kendall really gave the nets a workout as he beat a barrage against the Giant bankboards for an excellent percentage.

Christmas was in the air, but the Kokomo Kagers invaded Jeff of Lafayette and promptly lost the Yuletide spirit of giving by taking a 33-28 kick on the chin by the bucking Broncos. That encounter chalked up the initial black mark against our defending N.C.C. champs.

A trip up north—another haymaker straight to the Kats' solar plexus — delivered by Ft. Wayne Central, and our warriors were again down for the count of 51-33.

Still on the road, the staggering Kingsmen hit Marion for a return engagement and saw old man '45 off with another conference downfall.

Victory For KHS

The Marionites twisted the Kats' tail with a sweet 31-25 revenge for the earlier red and blue victory.

On to Logansport for the New Year's Tourney! Shoving off with the right attitude against the Logan Sports—the Kats were right and the Berries were left—holding a 39-23 setback.

A pair of charity tosses! That's what decided the championship issue between the Anderson and Kokomo quintets in the tourney play-off that night as the K-squad was squeezed out 38-36 in a "grey-hairs" thriller. "Windy" Maupin was hitting on all eight cylinders to play one of his top games of the season.

Another conquest, Kokomo style, was delivered C. O. D. to the "willing but wavering" Central Bear Cats at Muncie. "Joe" Conwell dumped in 17 points to fatten up his already well-nourished scoring total.

Putting out the "welcome" mat for the New Castle "guest stars" turned out to be a social error as the Trojans promptly accepted our hospitality by slipping the Kats a 38-36 "Mickey." Things looked decidedly "Gray" for the KHS hosts as the gentleman of the same name led the Green and White on to the conference triumph.

Taking an excursion to Tipton, the Kokomo squad painted the town red—and blue with a handy 40-33 addition to the "win" column. This tussle forged the number-one link of a following Wildcat victory chain.

Second problem of the winning string was Logansport—and the second solution was a neat 33-25 picking of the Berries in another second-half comeback. "Red" Noble put in his first showing of the season and came up with a major-league performance.

Next stop on Victory Special—Frankfort. The Hot Dogs were cooled down to the freezing point 34-32 by the roaring BasKats in a high tension duel that witnessed 42 fouls committed, and eight members of the two starting fives banished from the game.

Zooming down the success trail, the KHS basketeers found the top-flight Richmond netters blocking the way. Turning in one of their classiest showings of the season, the local boys squelched the Red Devils' nine-game "victory" streak 55-31. Conwell was on the "Hit Parade" as he wore out the scorekeeper with 25 hard-earned points.

Continuing the second half of a double feature the following day, the Katmen singed the whiskers of the Peru Tigers with a decisive 39-26 taming. And so another victory was all wrapped up and tied in fancy red and blue ribbon.

N. C. C. meant "Never Count Chickens" for Anderson's Indians as the battle smoke cleared and Kokomo's championship Kats had hung up another scalp to dry, 31-29. Messrs. Godlove and Gevirtz shared the limelight as they both gave the sportswriters something to write home about.

Having cut themselves at least a slice of the N.C.C. championship cake, the rampaging Wildcats set their sights for their "target for tonight"—the Logansport hardwooders. The Katmen cut the final and deciding notch in their N.C.C. title by handing the Logan cagers a 29-28 reverse.

Wabash, champion of the Central Indiana Conference vs. Kokomo, ditto of the N.C.C. The King's royal court-men put the "clamps on the champs" with an avalanche that left scoreboards blinking a 48-33 score—with the Bas-Kats on the heavy end of the count.

Charging into the Sectionals, the Kats were in the driver's seat the whole trip as they toured the Union aggregation with a 41-24 stampeding. No. 9 of the growing victory chain.

Results of No. 10 against Howard—Ditto, with a 59-16 tally giving the armory nets a thorough dusting.

Clay did nothing more than annex No. 11 to Kokomo's happy chain of events, 58-13.

Once in a lifetime—is enough! In the final game of the Sectionals against Greentown, the Kokomo squadders were treated to a grand and glorious demonstration of the stall—in all its "sleeping beauty." The KHS stalwarts finally "dozed" the Beavers out with a footballish 12-6 score in a game that had definite blood relationship to a slow waltz.

N. C. C. Championship

With the Sectionals all signed, sealed, and delivered, the Katmen proceeded to the next installment of the tourney trail—the Regionals at Marion. In the afternoon combat session, the Kats accounted for victory No. 13 by toppling the Tiptonians from the Regional ranks with a 37-32 photo-finish.

Last stop—Gas City! The Kokomo Special was derailed by a rangy, rampant, and "too hot to handle" five, hailing from Gas City, by the convincing margin of 38-29. The "Spirit of '46" never wavered in the fighting Kats as they gamely battled down to the last ditch.

Look to the present to predict the future. This was certainly true of our Kat Kubs who completed their season with 14 victories against 4 reverses. We'll be looking forward to next season when they'll be at the helm of the Wildcat victory ship.

As great champions in sportsmanship as well as in the game itself, the Wildcats of '45-'46 gave every member of KHS full reason to be proud of Kokomo High School's athletics. Good luck, Kats; they don't come any better!

Fleetfoots Race For Time

To pit his track squad against the best in the state of Indiana was the aim of track coach Walter Cross. As a result of the time and energy Coach Cross put forth, our Cinderkats showed up favorably under those conditions.

Outscored in first place, 6 to 5, at Marion on April 7, Kokomo was edged out in a thrilling meet, 56 to 53.

This defeat was offset on April 11. The Cinderkats walked away with a dual meet with Peru's Bengals by winning nine first places including two firsts by Maupin and Kenworthy.

On May 14 the Kokomo-Tech meet was rained out until a later date.

Anderson's championship track team gave the Kats trouble at the Muncie Relays, April 22. The Kats finished fifth with only Abbott's pole vault winning a first-place medal.

At North Side (Ft. Wayne) on a cold, rainy April 25, the Cinderkats absorbed a 68 2/3 to 40 1/3 defeat at the hands of North Side's Redskins.

Anderson won the annual Kokomo Relays with Coach Cross's thinlies placing sixth. There was an entry list of 500 boys and Kokomo's victory duo, Kenworthy and Abbott, were the only blue-ribbon winners for the Kats.

Repeating the former performances, Anderson nosed out the Kats to the tune of 83½ to 20½ in the dual meet at Anderson.

The Big Green of Technical (Indianapolis) invaded Kautz Field on May 7 and grabbed honors in both "A" and "B" classes. The Tech varsity won, 69 to 46, and the Tech Reserve squad was successful, 74½ to 40½.

Valiantly attempting to win the conference meet at Tech's (Indianapolis) big field on May 16, the Cinderkats came in fifth in a field of ten.

In the sectional meet, Abbott, who pole vaulted 11′ 3″, and Kenworthy, who placed second in the 440, qualified for state final competition for the Red and Blue.

Anderson took top honors at the State final while Kokomo was able to collect 4 3/5 points on Abbott's tie for fourth place in the pole vault and Kenworthy's third place with the 440.

The season as a whole was successful, for whether a team is defeated or victorious, it has had the satisfaction of good clean competition with other boys who are just as deserving as our own Cinderkats.

Spring Time Brings Baseball

Revival and survival were the two words that characterized Wildcat baseball in 1945. Revival, because it was Kokomo's first team in several years. Survival, because rain greeted almost every scheduled game.

The Kats' record was fair, as they won four and lost four. Although they won only one conference tilt, the Thompson-coached aggregation was undefeated outside the North Central Conference. Coach Chester Thompson and the Kat players were well deserving of the praise they received, for by their work Kokomo showed Indiana that they could organize a new team where before there had been none and still be a formidable opponent.

Minutes For Feminine Fun

Girls spent their spare time profitably by developing their bodies and their minds through organized sports. They proved that girls, too, could become skillful in athletics. During the winter months, girls confined their sports to such games as basketball, volleyball, and deck tennis; but with the first hint of spring, they could be found outdoors playing baseball and tennis.

Time to Relax

Remember the exciting feeling we had as we watched the curtain going up at the class play and the moment of suspense as we spoke our first lines? Remember the hours spent decorating for dances, working on committees, rehearsing for the Hullabaloo, or writing last-minute headlines and copy for the school paper?

The bulletin board in the front hall proved to be a great time-saver, for it kept us posted on the latest news, such as committee meetings, dance posters, lost and found articles, and club notices.

Though we used much of our precious time for studying, we also found time for these extra-curricular

League Honors

When a girl enters high school, she automatically becomes a member of the Girls' League, which was organized in 1936 by Miss Estella G. Pearce. It has continued to function successfully through the efforts of Miss Pearce and with the aid of a council, which is elected each year. This year the girls were guided in their activities by the following representatives: Janet Hicks (first semester) and Rebecca Sloan, (second semester) president; Betty Julow, vice-president; Marilyn Mitchell, secretary-treasurer; Louise Duke, 4A; Delores Johnson, 4B; Beverly Wiebers, 3A; Nancy Adams, 3B; Barbara Rhorer, 2A; June Hutchins, 2B; Barbara Dutton, 1A; Joan Marsh, 1B.

Girls' League meetings were held on the average of once a month, at which programs were presented that were of special interest to girls.

The League used its time wisely in carrying out many worthwhile projects. One Saturday the girls volunteered to sell tuberculosis bangles uptown. Later in the year, they offered their services to collect money at the local theaters for the March of Dimes. There was also the annual sale of holly.

When Miss Pearce was absent due to a serious illness, Miss Lyla Sill and Miss Dorothy Thornburgh took over her duties as dean. During this time, a drive for clothing was made to send to the Mozelle, Kentucky children, who could not attend school because of lack of clothing. In return, they sent greens and mistletoe, which were sold by the League.

The highlight of the year was the tenth annual Mother-Daughter Reception, which was held on May 17 in our high school auditorium. Miss Grace Wolpert Keene, who is a new dramatic star, was the guest speaker. Refreshments were served afterwards in the cafeteria.

Bettie Walsh and Delores Johnson were co-chairmen of this lovely occasion at which outstanding girls (pictured below) who had given the most service to their school were honored. Also, thirty-three girls were given honorable mention. They are:

Boys' Legion Spend Year Full of Activities

Ted Moore and Herman Parker plan some Legion activities.

Organized to include every boy in KHS, the Boys' Legion's purpose is to encourage a better understanding among boys, a better school spirit, a more loyal and spirited backing of all activities, and a general improvement of our school and lives. The Boys' Legion also promotes two outstanding social events during the year, the Hullabaloo and the Stardust Ball. The faculty adviser is the Dean of Boys, Mr. J. Paul Jones, who is assisted by a board of directors composed of representatives from each class chosen by an election among the boys. The officers of the board are elected each spring and the boys take office the next school year. This year those selected to govern were: Jack Kendall, president; David Hamp, vice-president; Richard Renshaw, secretary; Fines Zugelder, treasurer; and Joe E. Smith, sergeant-at-arms.

The cast of Hullabaloo meets on the stage for the grand finale which climaxed a very enjoyable evening.

On the night of March 29, 1946, one of the biggest events of the year took place. We spent enjoyable hours dancing and talking with friends at the eighth annual Stardust Ball. Ted Moore was chairman of the dance which was again held at Washington Junior High gym. Beautiful decorations served as an excellent background to the laughing couples and the music of Grady James's orchestra.

Herman Parker served as general chairman of the Boys' Legion Hullabaloo which was given in the high school auditorium January 31 and February 1 under the direction of Mr. Mahlon Mercer. Dick Gamrath and Tom Noble also assisted in making the Hullabaloo one of the most successful in years. The proceeds from this variety show were used by the Legion to meet expenses of the Stardust Ball.

The student council is the representative body of KHS which recommends school improvements and sponsors many worthwhile projects. Each year it is the duty of the student council to publish our school handbook, the Lens. In addition to this duty, the council did their part in "bettering" the school by financing the school band to Muncie, sponsoring the clean-up campaign and Hello week, purchasing the basketball identification board and the scholastic pennant, and contributing twenty-five dollars to the Good Fellows fund.

Students automatically become members of the council if they are elected president or council representative in the various home rooms. The presiding officers of the Girls' League and the Boys' Legion serve as ex-officio members. The student council's adviser is Miss Dorothy Thornburgh.

Students entering Kokomo High School can save many minutes and disappointments by consulting a useful guide called the Lens. This publication is a handy information book in which a new student can find facts concerning his school activities, organizations, courses, and outstanding school events scheduled to take place in the coming school year. It is published in time to be on sale the first day of each school year by the upperclassmen and is sponsored by the Student Council.

This year's Lens sold fast because of the wonderful workmanship of the staff during the summer months in making our Lens better than ever. Responsible for the book's success were Miss Dorothy Thornburgh, student council adviser, David Huston, the editor of the 1945-46 Lens, and Don Gevirtz, the business manager.

An international honorary for high school students, the Quill and Scroll Society chooses its members for outstanding work on high school publications. To be eligible for membership in the Quill and Scroll, a student must be an upperclassman, in the upper third of the class, and he must be recommended by the adviser of some publication and be approved by the Executive Secretary.

The Kokomo High School chapter, which was organized during the 1943-44 school year, was named after Robert Coughlin, a former KHS student who is now an associate editor of LIFE magazine. The organization met semimonthly and sponsored a literary contest during the second semester. Pat Kendall was the chairman of this contest.

The officers of the Quill and Scroll were: Don Gevirtz, president; Dick Cummings, vice-president; Betty Julow, secretary; and Mary Branch, treasurer. The members of the club were advised by Mr. Milton Green.

One of the most memorable occasions in many of the upper-classmen's high school career was the time they opened their invitations to become members of the National Honor Society. This society is based on four principles—scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

The prospective members must be in the upper third of their class; they must be voted upon by the entire faculty; and they must be either a 3A, 4B, or 4A.

The Honor Society joined with the Student Council in sponsoring the second biennial vocational conference.

The officers for the year were: Bill Mannion, president; Louise Duke, vice-president; Wanda Gunnell, secretary; and Nadine Sturgell, treasurer. The faculty committee consisted of: Mr. Fred Moss, Miss Fay Cover, Miss Helen Ross, Mr. Edson Van Dorn, Mr. Robert Barngrover, and Miss Nelda Showalter.

Constitution Time In KHS

The Organization Board is the governing body of all clubs in Kokomo High School. Students on the board were elected by the Student Council. When a club is organized, its members must submit a charter and a constitution to the Board for approval. The constitution must state the rules and regulations for the club to function properly; the charter must contain a list of the clubs' members and officers, its plans for the year, and its purpose.

More emphasis was placed on public speaking this year than ever before. Students, as well as teachers, realized the need for improvement in our speech. To develop initiative, city organizations sponsored speech contests, in which the participant prepared and delivered his own speech. Students interested in speech joined Infant Orators, II, under the supervision of Miss Lilith Farlow. Club officers were: George Lantz, president; Edythe Rhorer (1st semester) and Rebecca Sloan (2nd semester), vice-president; Herman Parker, secretary-treasurer.

Picture Time

By charging admission to the students for two full-length features, the Operators Club raised enough money to repair and maintain their machinery, and to rent films and film slides.

Operators Club members received practical experience through operating machines for different classes.

The club was organized in 1939 with Miss Fay Cover as adviser; and it ended another successful year with a full share of credit due to its following officers: Bob Trueblood, president; Bob Humrickhouse, secretary; and Dave Parrish, treasurer.

Manners, culture, grace, and the ability to recognize beauty are the aims of the Palette Club, which is open to anyone interested in art. The officers were: Richard Pickering, president; Miriam Showalter, vice-president; Edgar Garbert, secretary; Margaret Wright, treasurer. Miss Bernice McKinley is the adviser. Outstanding among the club's activities were a day spent at Indianapolis art centers and the exhibit held in the spring in conjunction with the Kokomo Art Association at the Frances Hotel.

Death Takes a Holiday Scores Triumph

This year the Dramatic Club was under the direction of a new sponsor, Miss Nelda Showalter. Any student wishing to become a member of this organization must pass tryouts in readings and memory work.

The officers of the organization were: George Lantz, president; Christina Hinkle, vice-president; Edythe Ann Rhorer, secretary; and Bud Jones, treasurer.

Student directors presented three one-act plays this year. Jean Holman and William Mannion directed "The Sargasso, God Bless It." Sam Van Sickle directed "All On a Summer's Day," and Christina Hinkle and George Lantz directed "Bobby Sox." All three plays showed clever acting and coaching.

John Lind applies base to Joan Gifford. Bud Jones and Ellen Aikman put finishing touches on Pat Kendall as Rosemary Rockey looks on. Virginia McClamrock and Ted Teegarden apply age lines to Alice Kendall.

THE MEMBERS OF THE CAST OF "ALL ON A SUMMER'S DAY" TAKE THEIR PLACES ON THE STAGE.

Top: "I felt a world about to open and then—. I don't know what it was; it was something cold and terrible."

Bottom: "Grazia, I want to take you with me, but you wouldn't be happy in my world."

Insert: "When I'm with you, it's like the worlds I visit in sleep."

It is a tradition for the club to present one three-act play every year, known as the Sargasso play because the proceeds are used to help finance the Sargasso. This year's production was Death Takes a Holiday. The story takes place in Italy and tells of Death, who takes a three-day holiday from his duties of transporting people to the other world to see what life on earth is like. This play proved to be one of the most successful serious dramas ever presented by the Dramatic Club.

In Time With Sports

For the first time in KHS, the Girls Athletic Association was under the leadership of a group council. They, with Miss Miriam Danner as adviser, guided the club through a successful year of sports. To qualify for membership, a girl had to have 35 points earned. On May 1, the girls climaxed the year by entertaining their mothers at the Mother-Daughter Banquet held in the girls' gym, with Miss Imogene Hodson in charge.

This year the "K" Club was re-organized under the sponsorship of Mr. Raymond Trobaugh. Boys earning a letter "K" are eligible for membership. This year's leaders were: Gerald Williams, president; Dick Renshaw, vice-president; Jack Kendall, secretary; Charles Killings, sergeant-at-arms. As a special project, the "K" Club undertook the task of making a list of all the major letter winners in the history of KHS for the athletic board.

Right Actions Are Essential Today

Information containing the names, addresses, and phone numbers of students and teachers can be found in the Red Book, which was published by the Sir Walter Raleigh Club. Don Gevirtz served as editor-in-chief and Norbert Cameron as business manager. The Sir Walts, under the new leadership of Mr. B. D. Morris, strived to practice good discipline and etiquette. Members are selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior boys.

The Conservation Club celebrated its second birthday under the direction of its originator and sponsor, Mr. Edson Van Dorn. Its purpose is to promote good sportsmanship, safety, and the knowledge of wild life. Any boy who can live up to this purpose in thought, word, and act may become a member. Interesting speakers talked of their experiences with wild life, and displays in show cases demonstrated the purpose of the club.

Ancient and Modern Customs

The Latin Club was one of the first to be organized in this school. Its purpose is to promote interest in the Latin language and literature, to acquire greater knowledge of the customs and traditions of the Roman people, and to increase the acquaintance with the many stories of mythology.

The membership is drawn from pupils taking second-year work in this language. The officers were named after those at Rome in olden times. Those for this year were: Jack Ellis, Consul Primus; Marjorie Arnett, Consul Secondus; Grace Tompkins, Scriba. The sponsor is Miss Helen Railsback with Miss Joy Goyer assisting.

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Miss Ruth Campbell, and the newly-formed Pan-American Club, advised by Miss Gertrude Colescott, worked hand in hand this year to establish a friendly relationship and better understanding with our neighbors to the North and South. The Spanish Club members were interested mostly in the South American peoples, while the Pan-American Club studied both North and South Americans.

Officers for the Spanish Club were: Jack Brown, president; Betty Julow, vice-president; Therese Vandenbosch, secretary; Neil Stilwell, treasurer. Those serving the Pan-American Club were: Carl Johnson, president; Marilyn Hicks, vice-president; Mary Jane Conner, secretary-treasurer.

History and Drama, Past and Present

Interested freshmen and sophomores recommended by teachers and voted upon by members are invited to join the Pre-Dramatic Club, which was organized in 1944 for underclassmen interested in the stage. The present sponsor is Mrs. Lena Coombes. Although the club presented no plays, it helped educate the students in dramatics and related fields, such as make-up, stage arrangements, and lighting. During the year they enjoyed talks and stage experiences by Dramatic Club members and gave pantomimes and gained actual practice in stage poise.

The officers were: Bob Williams, president; Joan Kraner, vice-president; Jean Jones, secretary; and John Carver, treasurer.

Created in 1930, the Franklin Club, named for Benjamin Franklin, studied current problems and also devoted much time to the research of historical events not usually discussed in the regular class. One of the projects of the club was the auditorium program, which was presented in the spring semester. The basic qualification for membership into this club is a scholastic average of "B" in history and "C+" in other subjects.

This organization was guided through a successful year by Pat Kendall, president; Ted Teegarden, vice-president; Tom Noble, secretary; Clara Clifford, treasurer; Dan Moose, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Warren Muncie was faculty adviser.

They Look To The Future

The Pre-Nursing Club was organized for girls who are interested in the nursing profession. Among the interesting programs given this year was one by its adviser, Miss Esther Edwards, who related her experiences as an Army nurse. Until the arrival of Miss Edwards, Miss Bernice Doody was in charge. As one of their projects, they gave baskets of food, clothing, and toys to needy families at Christmas. The officers were: Joyce Hosier, president; Betty Bennett, vice-president; Margaret Wright, secretary-treasurer.

Interested in flying, or in model airplanes? Join the Aeronautics Club, for this club was started to develop the interest of students in model airplanes and to give them an occupational analysis of the flying field. Inactive for the past few years, the club was reorganized in the middle of the first semester. There are twenty-five members in the club, three of which are girls. The sponsor of the club is Mr. Alfred Himelick.

Time For Extras

On May 29, girls donned their prettiest formals and boys sported their best suits to attend the annual Junior-Senior Prom, held at the Washington Junior High School. On this eventful occasion, the juniors paid honor to the seniors by holding a reception. The highlight of the evening was the coronation of the senior girl chosen to reign over the prom as queen.

Tom Noble and Barbara Kirkpatrick, who were co-chairmen of the Prom, worked with their various committees to give us one of our best times.

The biennial Vocational Interest Conference was held in KHS March 20, 1946, following its organization meeting held on March 6. The purpose of this conference was to help students decide about their future work and help them understand fully the requirements of it.

Thirty-two speakers, many from out-of-town, came to KHS to make the conference interesting and educational for the students.

Elsie Boruff and Bill Mannion, student co-chairmen, with the supervision of Miss Fay Cover, guidance director, made the conference a real success.

Wait a Second!

"Where's your pass?" is a familiar saying heard around our KHS halls each period of the school day. In order to keep the corridors clear and quiet, every student is required to have a pass slip issued by a teacher permitting him to be in the halls during class time.

The monitor system was begun several years ago by Mr. Lloyd Keisling, who worked hard to make it a success. Three years ago, Mr. Robert Barngrover took over, and he was replaced this year by Mr. Edward Phillips.

A monitor captain and assistant captain served each period. Their duties were checking rotation, attendance, and keeping the corridors lighted during the in-between-class minutes.

The monitors are to be commended for the fine work they did in keeping our halls quiet and orderly.

On the Wings of Song

The choir, composed of forty-six members, had as its officers this year: George Lantz, president; Barbara Kirkpatrick, vice-president; and Phyllis Talbert, secretary-treasurer.

Under the competent direction of Miss Mary A. Faussett and accompanied by Rebecca Sloan, the choir performed at the Hullabaloo, a special Christmas concert, convocations, the baccalaureate, and their traditional Spring Concert.

An octet was formed this year including: Lois Ann Barker and Barbara Kirkpatrick, sopranos; Norma Hamler and Barbara Eades, altos; George Lantz and John Lind, tenors; David Drinkwater and William Mannion, basses.

The trio was composed of Beverly Perkins, soprano; Nancy Carothers, second soprano; and Marilyn Seiberling, alto.

A new musical group was the Boys Chorus, which was directed by Mr. Mahlon Mercer. These boys took part in the Hullabaloo and school convocations.

Band and Orchestra

Mr. Mahlon Mercer, our school band director for the past three years, organized this year's band a week before school; and, after practicing diligently, they were in top condition for the first football game, where they performed with skill. The band played at some of the out-of-town games as well as the home games. They also gave an auditorium program, concerts for the junior high school, and played for the three commencements. On May 3, a city-wide music festival was held.

Keep Time To Music

As the football season drew to a close, the high school orchestra, under the supervision of Mr. Mahlon Mercer, stepped forward to assume a position among the leaders in our music department. After many hours of hard work and practice, our orchestra presented several excellent performances during convocation period, at the class play, the Sargasso play, the Boys' Legion Hullabaloo, and Commencement in May.

The membership of the orchestra was approximately twenty-six. At the beginning of the second semester, Mr. Mercer reorganized the orchestra by adding to its regular musical selections more popular music. This new-type organization was run on a basis similar to that of a radio orchestra.

As the orchestra made their way to their seats the night of Commencement, they were closing the curtains for another successful season of musical enjoyment in our high school.

Second Row: Carolyn Wilson, Othella Cowgill, Jeannine Stevenson, Clara Mae McReynolds, Phyllis Bird, Aileen Adams, Alice Chaplin.

Minutes Before

Upper: "Now, Ma, there's no use clearing me out of the room so Bill can propose to Clare."

Lower: "Got anything good to eat? I'm hungry."

The senior class play for 1946 was the three-act comedy Do Re Mi written by Alladine Bell.

Do Re Mi is the story of a high school senior who is a talented pianist, and his family's trouble in preparing him for his musical career. The clever way in which the many complications are untangled kept the audience in suspense and laughter until the final curtain.

The time spent in the preparation of the senior class play was profitable because Do Re Mi was one of the most successful productions of the year.

The Footlights

For six weeks the cast practiced their lines and actions until they had every detail ironed out and ready for the big night of April 12.

The students who participated in the play were directed by Miss Lilith Farlow and assisted by Mr. Lester McCarty.

"I don't want milk. I hate milk. And we're thirty-seven minutes late for the show."

Upper: "Ed, what's kitty doing here?"

Lower: "I ask you, is this right? Two of my girls get together on me!"

Red and Blue Prints

Kokomo High School would not be complete without the Red and Blue. One of the most looked-forward-to events of a student's high school life is the day when the school newspaper is distributed. Many of our minutes were spent in pleasure, scanning the columns and looking for familiar names or interesting articles. Many of us saw our first stories in print in the Red and Blue and we will never forget the twinge of excitement its appearance brought. However, to some of us who have worked on the staff, each of our new articles meant another stepping stone toward perfection in our writing careers. In this respect the paper was a valuable aid to the journalism students of KHS. These people had the opportunity to gain practical experience during the time they worked on the Red and Blue.

Another reason the school paper was valuable to the students was that through it they could voice their opinions on school affairs. This was done in student opinion polls, student interviews, and editorials. The paper also played a major role in the school betterment campaigns, such as the clean-up and courtesy campaign, by publishing editorials and features designed to further these efforts. In addition to providing publicity for these projects, the newspaper printed outstanding English compositions and kept us informed on what the other schools were doing to make themselves more efficient and modern.

Published every other week, besides on occasions which made special issues necessary, the Red and Blue was written and made up almost entirely by the students of KHS.

With a first-class rating from the National Scholastic Press Association tucked under their belts, the editors of the Red and Blue strove ahead to achieve even higher honors.

With the able assistance of Mr. Milton Green and Mr. Fred Mustard, faculty advisers, the editors-in-chief, Edythe Ann Rhorer, first semester, and Don Lee Gevirtz, second semester, increased the circulation to 1500 readers an issue and won praise from all of them.

Much of this success was due to the work of the editorial staff, directed by managing editor Christina Hinkle, and the page editors, Herman Parker, Joan Jenkins, Don Gevirtz, and Pat Kendall, who checked the work done by their reporters and made up their pages. The second semester page editors were Christina Hinkle, Pat Kendall, Joe Berneche, Barbara Kirkpatrick, and Bud Jones.

The business, advertising, and circulation staffs, headed by Norbert Cameron and Martha McCool, first semester, and Martha McCool, Bill Bugher and Desma Krhin, second semester, sold ads, folded and distributed papers, and kept the debits and credits side of the paper straight.

The promotion and production managers of the paper, Mary Branch and Richard Pickering, and the exchange editors, Joan Glidewell, and Mina Bauer, helped make the paper more popular, and sent the paper to out-of-town schools.

Of course if it hadn't been for the typing adviser, Miss Vedah Covalt, head typist Marilyn Fee, her corps of typists, and the printers at Kelvie Press, there would not have been a Red and Blue.

Time's Workshop

The Sargasso for 1946 was born in the fall of '45. During the first hectic months, it struggled to survive while the Sargasso staff with the aid of Mr. Warren Muncie and Miss Elizabeth Handley, the advisers, tried to push it and keep it on its feet by subscription drives and dummy planning. By the time the cold months had rolled around, the '46 Sargasso was on its way towards adolescence and young book-hood. The class pictures, football pictures, and a few around-the-school shots were at the engravers and the first drafts of the stories were written. By this time, the staff, with effort, could visualize the book's appearance. As the New Year sneaked in, Marianna Morris and Richard Pickering were busy planning the book's cover and the various art work that was necessary to give the book a "face lifting" job. The first signs of spring brought pangs of joy to most of the student body of KHS, but to the staff it was a time signal that warned them that the end of school was in sight. The '46 Sargasso was then slowly filling out but was still in the awkward stages of the in-between time which separates the idea from a finished product. The book needed more pictures and copy. For the former problem, Mr. Evart Adams did his part for the struggling book with his splendid school-life photographs. Also snaps were turned in by the amateur photo-fiends of our student body. For the latter of the two main growing pains of the '46 Sargasso, the editorial staff eked out story after story to fill in the undeveloped muscles of the book's body. March crept by and then the first of April (Deadline Day) all of a sudden popped over the eastern horizon and found a bewildered Sargasso staff with an "almost" book. The typists were still busy getting the copy organized, the business staff was still getting picture identifications in place, the rest of the staff was still putting in odds and ends and proofreading what was already in, and the printer was shouting for the finished product. A few changes were made in the stories and arrangement of pictures. A triumphant staff gleefully handed the book to the printer with a feeling of "it's up to you and the binder now" in their hearts.

All that remained for the Sargasso staff to do was to re-proofread the copy in order to avoid the ever-present blunders, and to worry about what the students' reaction to the 1946 Sargasso will be when it emerges in full-fledged book-hood.
